BUGLE BLOWS BLOW PAIR INTO DIVORCE

Wife Refused to Stand for Music in Early Morning.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 28.—Blown apart by the blasts of a bugle, William Danzig, of this city, and his wife, Ruth, were legally divorced in the chambers of Judge Newark. The divorce out of matrimony by his own mother, William Danzig was, and this is the reason why.

William works in New York and is a very good sleeper. To reach his employment on time he must take the 8:02 from Elizabeth every morning. His wife didn't have to go to work on the 8:02, as she didn't care about getting up early in the morning. She refused to stand for music in the morning. William's mother, in whose home he resided with his wife, took upon herself the task of getting her offspring away on time. She knows how to blow a bugle.

She aroused him with a ringing "ta-ra-ta-ta" every morning at 7:15 o'clock. The bugle always awakened William, but unfortunately for his peace of mind, it also awakened his wife. Finally the situation became acute. William was confronted with the alternative of getting up his job or giving up his wife. William decided to keep his job, and the Danzig bugle still sounds.

HE EATS, HE DOES!

Starts Off Meal With Twenty-five Hard-Boiled Eggs.

BILLINGS, WY., June 28.—A grocerman here, who has been boasting that people eat too much, and that if they would cut down their menus the high cost of living would be a thing of the past, has been found out. For illustration he told them how he ate an ample meal, and they said he was a liar, that nothing short of an elephant could do that sort of feeding.

So, to prove it, he sat them down and he ate twenty-five hard-boiled eggs, one-half loaf of bread, one can of corn, one plate of ice cream and two pieces of cake. He wiped two lips with one hand and sighed because he wished he had eaten one full meal.

HUGHES IN "PLATE" CASE

Will Ask Permission to Sell "A. P. A." to Newspaper Union.

CHICAGO, June 28.—An appeal from a ruling by Federal Judge J. L. Edwards, who refused the American Press Association permission to sell its property to the Western Newspaper Union, was heard today by Charles E. Hughes.

The sale of the American Press Association to the Western Newspaper Union was forbidden by an injunction issued by Judge Landis, which in a recent decision he declined to dissolve on the grounds that it would make the Newspaper Union a monopoly. Both parties now deal in newspaper supplies to newspapers.

The Press Association, which is petitioning for the sale, argues that the transfer is necessary to preserve any of its assets.

ELEPHANT GOES MAD

Big Bronx Zoo Mastodon Must Be Shut Off From Public.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Cartoon, the bane of elephants at the Bronx Zoo, has gone mad.

So reported Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the Zoo, to the members of the Board of Estimate yesterday. He asked for $1,400 for the construction of an iron door in the elephant house to protect visitors from Cartoon.

Cartoon, who has been in the Zoo nine years, had a record for exemplary conduct until a few weeks ago, when he developed an ugly streak. He has grown worse daily. Even his keepers are afraid of him. He is such a splendid specimen that Dr. Hornaday said it would be advisable to keep him incommunicado rather than destroy him.

WAR BARS COMMENCEMENT

Only 13 Out of Class of 107 Boys Left to Attend.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—There will be no commencement exercises this year for the South Philadelphia high school. Out of the 107 boys to be graduated it was found that only thirteen were able to attend commencement exercises. Seventeen of the boys, it was found, were with the colors; three were on farms, and others had taken positions to release older men for military service.
